9 ART EVENTS TO ATTEND IN NEW YORK CITY THIS WEEK

Opening: Billy Al Bengston at Venus Over Manhattan

Like many of his Ferus Gallery–represented colleagues, Billy Al Bengston is having a moment. This week, he opens his second New York solo show of the year, following one earlier this summer at Andrew Kreps Gallery. In this show, Bengston will debut new works from his ongoing “Chevron” series, in which the Chevron logo becomes a meditative image, transforming from something obviously meant to market to a brand into something that could even be considered sublime. The Los Angeles–based artist will also have on view 12 works from his “B.S.A. Motorcycle” series, a group of semi-figural paintings devoted to parts of Bengston’s B.S.A. bike.
