9 ART EVENTS TO ATTEND IN NEW YORK CITY THIS WEEK

Opening: "#RAWHIDE" at Venus Over Manhattan

This Dylan Brant (stepson of publisher and art aficionado Peter Brant) and Vivian Brodie-curated show focuses on masculine identity in the form of cowboy imagery from the late 19th century to the present day. Why? Because Dylan Brant loves cowboys, and wants us to love them too. From a 1901 Henry Shradly bronze buffalo sculpture to a Dennis Hopper photo of John Wayne and Dean Martin that represents the rise of the Hollywood Western to present day "homoerotic stuff," "#RAWHIDE" could very well turn out to be one of those great shows we didn't even know we wanted.

Venus Over Manhattan, 980 Madison Avenue, 6-8 p.m.
